Anti-compact laws came into existence, forbidding combinations in the fixing or maintaining of rates. By the passage of such laws States refused to permit combination, which was eliminating the discrimination in rates which had resulted from competition. Rate criticism has lately assumed a new phase, however, induced by the character of the means used to obtain rates, namely, underwriters associations. No longer do we have all the companies, influenced by competition, reducing their rates to the lowest point consistent with their loss statistics, or even lower, or arriving by separate processes at the final rates which they grant on properties. They instead co-operate to centralize the control of rates - place the power with associations in which they. among...
